

BONUS MEASURE PASSES SENATE; VOTE 67 TO 17

Majority Sufficient to Over-Ride
Presidential Veto of Coolidge
Disapproves Present
Resolution

NO CASH OPTION

Upper House Avoids Complications
Which Would Have Tendency to Cause Unfavorable Action at White House

Washington, Apr. 23. — The senate, following in the footsteps of the house, passed the soldier bonus insurance bill today by a majority sufficient to carry it over a presidential veto.

The vote was 67 to 17.

President Coolidge has declared against a bonus, but proponents of this particular kind of adjusted compensation legislation are hopeful that it will meet with his approval. Before the bill reaches him, however, it must go to conference for adjustment of minor differences with the house.

Assured by Republican leaders that they would vote to over-ride a veto of the bill, but would support a veto of a cash bonus measure, the senate retained all efforts to add a cash option.

Cash Payment Option Rejected.

The test on the question came with the rejection, 47 to 38, of an amendment by Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, which would have left with the former service men the choice of full cash payments or the insurance certificate provided for in both the senate and house bills.

Many Democratic senators who voted for the measure in its present form denounced it as a "miserable makeshift," and a "gold brick," and formal notice was given that at some future time efforts would be made to amend it so as to enable the veterans to get cash.

On the final vote on the bill, nine Democrats and eight Republicans opposed it, while 33 Republicans, 32 Democrats, and the two Farmer-Labor senators supported it.

House seeks to kill bill.

Opposition to any bonus measure made itself evident in the debate yesterday for the first time. Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, leading the attack with a warning that "it is time to take stock and turn the corner."

The bill has been on its legislative journey less than two months. Although bonus measures were introduced immediately upon the convening of congress, the question was not actually taken up by the house and means committee until March 1, the day after the tax reduction measure was passed by the house.

The pending bill makes provision for all enlisted men and women and officers up to and including the rank of captain in the army and marine corps and lieutenant in the navy.

Can borrow on Policy.

There is no difference between the senate and house on the main features of the bill. Each has approved the major provisions which are:

Cash payment to veterans whose adjusted compensation would not exceed $30.

Twenty-year adjustment insurance policy based on adjusted service pay at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service, and $1.25 a day for overseas service.

Provision made in the insurance feature under which the veteran, after a period of two years from the date of issue of his certificate, could draw from the fund up to $1 per year of the current cash value of the policy.

THAW REMAINS IN COURT'S CUSTODY

Confers With Lawyers — Intends to Financially Aid His Divorced Wife

Philadelphia, Apr. 23. — Harry K. Thaw, who was pronounced sane and capable of managing his own affairs after a common pleas court last night, spent most of today in conference with his attorneys, former Judge John M. Patterson. With the exception of a few hours spent with his mother, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, at her home, he was with his lawyers most of the day.

Thaw still is in the custody of the court and will remain so until the decision of an appeal has been decided by the supreme court.

Thaw's attorneys, counsel for the defense, are expected to file a motion for a writ of habeas corpus tomorrow. Motion for a writ of habeas corpus is expected to be filed tomorrow.

Thaw was said by his personal physician, Dr. J. M. Patterson, to have been in a sane condition for some time. Thaw's condition is said to be such that he is capable of managing his own affairs.

21 KILLED; MANY HURT IN COLLISION

No Americans Thought Victims of Crash Between Trans-
Alps Expresses

Paris, Apr. 23. — Only the scantiest details were available here tonight regarding the collision near Bellinzona, Switzerland, today between the Milan and Zurich express trains, which resulted in the death of 21 persons and injuries to many.

The Geneva correspondent of the Temps telephoned that the collision occurred a few hundred yards north of the Bellinzona station. Preliminary investigations indicated that it was due to the failure of the drivers of the Zurich express to observe signals set against them as they were approaching the station.

The violence of the collision was the more appalling as the Zurich train was drawn by two powerful engines.

The gas-lighted passenger coach on the Zurich train bound for Germany caught fire and flared up like a torch. None of its passengers escaped, all being burned to death. The bodies recovered were unrecognizable.

Crews of both locomotives were reported to have been killed.

Americans Thought Safe.

Berne, Apr. 23. — As far as can be learned, it appears improbable that any Americans were killed in the collision. No reports of deaths or injuries has been reported from the sleeper in which four Americans were traveling and it is believed that they escaped.

FARMER FACES TOO MANY DIFFICULTIES

Better Marketing Conditions, Reduction of Government
Cost Surely Needed

New York, Apr. 23. — Better marketing conditions, co-operative production, and the reduction of the costs of government are sorely needed by the American farmer, L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, tonight told delegates to the convention of the National Metal Trades association.

"The farmer should get a bigger share of the consumer's dollar," Mr. Taber said. "Marketing conditions are unfair to both the farmer and the consumer."

He advocated a bureau that should endeavor to tell farmers what crops to raise in conformity with the needs of consumers.

W. W. Coleman, president of the Metal Trades association, denied that the open shop which prevails on a wide scale among the metal manufacturers was a "conspiracy of employers" to throttle unionism.

WITNESS SAYS WHEELER REFUSED TO HANDLE CASE

Washington, Apr. 23. — Further evidence, as to Senator Burton K. Wheeler's legal service for Gordon Campbell, a Montana oil operator, was heard today by the senate special committee investigating circumstances surrounding Wheeler's indictment by a Montana federal grand jury on charges that he had represented Campbell in federal matters, contrary to statute. The session was brief and the only witness was L. V. Beaulieu of Los Angeles, formerly Campbell's chief attorney.

Beaulieu said he had no knowledge that Wheeler had ever represented Campbell in any way before the indictment on any other government department. On the contrary, he testified, the senator had told him emphatically that he could not do any federal business for Campbell when Beaulieu mentioned to him the matter of a federal land permit.

ROBERT MOSES NOW HEADS STATE COUNCIL OF PARKS

New York, April 23. — Robert Moses, chairman of the Long Island State Park commission, was elected president of the State Council of Parks at the council's first meeting today.

Former Senator A. T. Fancher was chosen vice-president.

The council formed to create a United States park system, will have its permanent headquarters in Albany. Today's meeting was called by State Conservation Commissioner Alexander McLaughlin in accordance with Governor Smith's instructions.

Plans were made for the distribution of an appropriation among small parks and the purchase of land in the Taconic region, it was announced.

The council also discussed the problem of the sale of the park lands and the disposition of unappropriated state lands.

Case, Republican, Herkimer, which authorizes boards of supervisors to appropriate money for the purchase of traveling libraries in the rural districts, and also assist the state department of education to purchase books for the rural districts.

13 Persons Positively Declare Prisoners to Be Ones Who Held
Them Up — Girl Sorry
She Shot Mazzeo

New York, Apr. 23. — In a dramatic setting which fittingly climaxed their sensational career, Cella Cooney, bobbed hair bandit, and her husband, Edward, pleaded guilty to an indictment, charging first degree robbery before County Judge Martin in Brooklyn today.

They were remanded to jail for further hearing Tuesday. Three other indictments were returned against them this morning.

After passing with their charges between two files of curious onlookers who lined the streets from headquarters to the courthouse, detectives forcibly opened a passage to the court room. As the Cooneys entered side by side tense silence gripped the room.

Both Plead Guilty.

Judge Martin asked the prisoners how they pleaded to the charge. One of their lawyers answered, "not guilty."

District Attorney Dodd told the judge the defendants had rejected counsel. On confirmation of this fact from the Cooneys, the judge dismissed the lawyers. Then, turning to the prisoners, he said, "If you are guilty, it will be best for you to make a clean breast of it."

The bobbed hair bandit disconcertedly moistened her lips while her husband dropped his eyes. A moment later they said almost simultaneously that they would plead guilty.

After the clerk had taken their pedigrees, the pair was hurried from the court room by three detectives to a waiting automobile and driven to Raymond street jail.

13 Persons Identify Cooneys.

The Cooneys were confronted by 13 witnesses this morning. As they entered the lineup room, 20 detectives, disguised by black masks to prevent suspects from making mental notes of their features, lined the walls.

Asked to identify the bobbed hair bandit as the girl who was said to have shot him during the National Biscuit company holdup, Nathan Mazzeo admitted, "yes, that's the girl."

"Mazzeo, I'm sorry you were shot. It was all a mistake," Cella said, smiling. But Mazzeo evidently was not susceptible to feminine charms. Thirteen persons in all positively identified the Cooneys. Cella seemed to enjoy the process and her husband smiled approvingly at her sense of humor.

REBEL AIRPLANES BOMB TEGUCIGALPA

Many Inhabitants But No Soldiers
Defending City Killed
by Explosions

San Salvador, Apr. 23. — Rebel airplanes have dropped explosive bombs upon Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras, killing a number of the inhabitants, according to soldiers reported here. It is said none of the soldiers defending the city were killed.

The rebel artillery is bombarding the mountain batteries of the defenders of Tegucigalpa, who have been ordered to continue resistance until troops driven out of Honduras.

Dispatches received here today say that active negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the situation are under way, due to the intervention of Sumner Welles, who was sent to Honduras by President Coolidge in an endeavor to end the warfare. Mr. Welles is said to have urged the government factions to agree upon a compromise candidate for the post of provisional president of the republic and to hold elections.

SEEK FINGERPRINT PROOF IN BAUER MURDER MYSTERY

New York, Apr. 23. — Detectives today started the hunt in an Elizabeth, N. J., cemetery which contains the body of Mrs. Maud Bauer, who was murdered in a Staten Island apartment house and took impressions of her fingerprints.

The trip was made to compare Mrs. Bauer's fingerprints with those found on the automobile owned by Harry Goldman, motion picture operator, who is held in connection with the murder. The results of the comparison were not disclosed.

Hoffman's team arrived on a short flight, charging automobile, before the car was driven to New York. Hoffman was the driver of the car.

MAN LEAPS INTO HYDRAULIC CANAL

All Efforts to Save Him From Being Carried Into Turbines and to Death Futile

Niagara Falls, Apr. 23. — An unknown man jumped into the hydraulic canal from the Erie avenue bridge this evening and probably was swept into the penstocks of the giant power turbines. A carpenter passed the man on the bridge and an instant later turned and saw the stranger had disappeared. He gave the alarm and several men saw the man in the water but were unable to reach him. They ran to the bridge and tried to reach the unfortunate with a rope but the effort was in vain. A fire alarm sounded and the firemen thought they saw the victim and reached for him with a pike pole. The object, which in the dark seemed like a body in a blue coat, sank out of reach. A cap floated nearby. Other firemen on the first street bridge lowered a man on a ladder who saw the cap float by but no trace of a body.

The police say the unfortunate probably will never be seen as the trip through the turbines would smash the body to bits.

FARMER KILLS WIFE; TURNS GUN ON HIMSELF; MAY DIE

Dunkirk, Apr. 23. — Leon L. Straight, a tireless laborer of Sheridan, Center, five miles east of this city, tonight shot his wife, killing her instantly, and then shot himself through the head with a revolver. He was rushed to a hospital in this city where physicians said there was no hope for his recovery. The couple had been separated for six months and it is believed that the situation proved a burden to the man and he became temporarily insane.

The shooting occurred on the sidewalk in front of the Straight home. Their five-year-old son, Leon, was found hiding in the cellar in a hysterical condition.

MAN BURNED TO DEATH

New York, Apr. 23. — An unidentified man was burned to death today in a fire which destroyed the large part of an old wooden pier at 24th street and the Hudson river. The damage was estimated at $100,000.

Seventy-five men at work on the pier were forced to flee and a steamship of the Columbia line, now there, had to be towed into mid-stream. Several barges were moved by being not astir.

ELIMINATION AIR BALLOON RACE STARTS

Captain Honeywell Leads, but Second Bag Closes Gap Somewhat Within 10 Minutes
After Rising

TRAVEL NORTHEAST

More Northwest, However, as They Leave Texas Field, But
Cross Currents Further
North Probable

By the Associated Press

San Antonio, Tex., Apr. 23. — Seven giant gas bags took off here today in the National Elimination Balloon race, and tonight, with their co-captains, were waiting northward through the trackless paths of the air seeking new marks of endurance and distance.

The balloonists expect to be over Indiana or Ohio tomorrow morning if all goes well.

The balloons got away easily, rising in a gentle breeze that swept Kelley field, the starting point, from the south.

The pilot balloon rose in the air at 4:15 p. m., and the race was on. The pilot headed off slightly west or north but the air reading indicated it would strike cross currents over Oklahoma or Missouri and that it would then drift northward across the Mississippi river. The pilot balloon would remain in the air long enough to indicate the direction of the current.

Captain H. E. Honeywell of St. Louis, veteran aeronaut pilot of the Kansas City Co-operative club entry, was the first contestant to get away. His bag rose at 5:15 o'clock.

Second Place Close on First.

At five-minute intervals the other contestants gracefully took the air, the baskets swaying gently in the steady breeze.

The great yellow bag of Captain Honeywell went upward slowly, the pilot dropping sand ballast as it rose, while thousands of spectators cheered the veteran skipper of the air whose gas ship looked like a great pale orange as it reached upward for it to the far reaches of the continent. As Pilot H. H. Fournier, in his ship, representing San Antonio, rose just after Captain Honeywell, a great cheer went up from the thousands of San Antonians present.

Ten minutes after the first two ships went above, San Antonio was close on the heels of Kansas City. The first major pilot to get away was Major Norman W. Peck. He had some difficulty, being delayed about five minutes. He left the ground at 5:30. The balloons remained in sight for half an hour, gradually fading into the haze of the north.

SENATE TAKES UP TAX CUT MEASURE

Long Fight Is Seen — Democrats
Prepare Entirely New Schedule — Expect G. O. P. Aid

Washington, Apr. 23. — The tax reduction bill was made the unfinished business of the senate today within five minutes after the passage of the soldier bonus measure.

After two hours given over to the consideration of minor measures, the senate will plunge tomorrow into what is destined to be the longest legislative battle of the session. The Mellon income tax rates will be the center of the controversy.

Chairman Smith of the Finance committee, in moving to take up the bill, predicted that a majority would be secured for its disposition. Other leaders, however, are less optimistic.

Should the fight be prolonged, Senator Smith said he would put aside the measure temporarily in order to pass the several appropriation bills now pending or soon to reach the senate from the house.

A whole new income tax schedule has been presented by the Democrats and they are prepared to have a determined fight to substitute it for the Mellon plan. The expectation is that support from the Republican insurgents and some of the so-called progressives on the majority side.

SUN CAN PRODUCE OUR FOOD SUPPLY

Chemist Depicts Day When Agriculture Will Be Relieved of Part of Burden

Washington, Apr. 23. — A future day when a large part of the world's food supply will be artificially produced emancipating men from absolute dependence on the soil, was depicted in an address before the American Chemical society convention here today by Dr. Carl Alberg, director of the food research bureau of the National Academy of Sciences.

There is every reason to believe, Dr. Alberg declared, that the three basic groups of foodstuffs—carbohydrates, fats and amino acids—can or shortly will be produced by artificial means.

"Perhaps we shall always be dependent upon agriculture for vitamins," he said, "but a system of agriculture relieved in any material measure of the necessity of producing foodstuffs, would be an agriculture very different from that of the present."

Would Use Sun's Radiation.

As to possible sources of energy necessary for such food production, the speaker said that it is measured in terms of anthracite. It would require 1,000,000 tons annually to supply the caloric food consumption of the present population of the United States. In practice, however, the loss of energy involved in the chemical processes probably would require a greater amount of energy, he said.

The most promising source of energy for mankind to turn to in the "day of artificial food production," Dr. Alberg said, is solar radiation. By a mechanical process of storing up the heat units of the sun, he declared, the present "inefficiency of agriculture," due to its "waste of energy," would largely be supplanted by the efficiency of a chemical process.

OPERATE ON WOMAN AS HOSPITAL BURNS

Safety of Patient Made It Imperative for Surgeons to Complete Task

New York, Apr. 23. — While 200 patients were being removed from a wing of Saint Mary's hospital, Brooklyn, in which a fire was burning, surgeons performed a major operation on a woman.

The patient was on the table when Dr. George Owens and Dr. John J. Flynn noticed smoke curling from beneath the roof of the adjoining wing, 30 feet away. It was necessary for the safety of the patient, to complete the operation, and nurses watched the progress of the fire closely while the surgeons worked.

Meanwhile, hospital attendants, alarmed by the flames which had broken out beneath the roof, removed the patients first from the upper floor and then from the entire wing. Firemen soon checked the fire, and the damage was slight.

VICINITY MEN INDICTED IN BOOTLEG VIOLATIONS

Philadelphia, Apr. 23. — Twenty-six men were indicted by a federal grand jury here today for alleged violation of the liquor law. Among them were 29 alleged customers of Isaac Bulfinch, reputed "mail order bootleg king." They were charged with Bulfinch and Joseph DeBracht, his alleged chief salesman, with conspiracy to violate the liquor law.

The men named as customers of Bulfinch include Frank J. Mulligan, Philip N. Y. E. B. Southworth, Trout, N. Y. and J. P. O'Mara, Worcester, N. Y.

In the cases of a number of Bulfinch's customers who pleaded guilty recently, federal judges imposed fines of $25 and $50.

MOTHER GIVES UP GEMS AS BANDITS THREATEN CHILD

New York, Apr. 23. — A threat by three masked and armed bandits to shoot her six-year-old son last night caused Mrs. Victor J. Petty of Douglaston, Queens, to turn over her jewels, valued at $5,000.

Mrs. Petty, an interior decorator and stage set designer, was in the living room of her home with her three oldest sons and a daughter when the bandits entered. While two of the men covered Mr. Petty and his children, the third crept upstairs where Mrs. Petty was reading.

"Write me the jewels on 111 All the kids," he said.

Mrs. Petty promptly obeyed, and the trio left, after cutting the telephone wires.

QUIT RATHER THAN ASSIST WRONG CASE

Daugherty Says He Resigned Rather Than 'Contribute to Treasonable' Action—Tells of Communists' Efforts

FILES IMPORTANT

Contain Considerable Data Relating to Work of Reds—Assails Trip to Russia by Wheeler and Brookhart

Columbus, O., Apr. 23. — Harry M. Daugherty told an audience of friends and neighbors here tonight that he had given up his cabinet post rather than "contribute to a treasonable cause."

Files of the department of justice, he said, contained "abundant proof of the plans, purposes, and heinous designs of the Communists international."

"Clear in mind," he added, "that the files which I refused to deliver to the Wheeler investigating committee at the time of my resignation was requested, were demanded by Brookhart and Wheeler, two United States senators who spent last summer in Russia with their Soviet friends — those same Soviet and Communist leaders who preached destruction of constitutional government, destruction even of human life."

"I preferred to permit my integrity to be questioned and my honor to hang in the balance, for the time being, rather than surrender the files in the keeping of the department of justice. I gladly gave up a post of honor rather than contribute to a treasonable cause."

Would Act Through Senators

Mr. Daugherty charged that "plottings to Moscow by United States senators" had been arranged for by the Communist authorities, after their efforts to capture American labor organizations had failed.

"There (in Russia) no doubt, new inspirations were advanced," he continued, "as to what steps should be taken to cripple the government of the United States and crumble the columns that support it."

He said he was informed that one step in this direction was to capture, by deceit and design, as many members of the senate of the United States as possible and to spread throughout Washington city and in the cloak rooms of congress a poison gas as deadly as that which sapped and destroyed brave soldiers in the late war.

"Time will not permit me to give on this occasion, the details of the various plans and efforts undertaken to influence the senate as a body and individual members thereof. When the country is willing to hear and in condition to comprehend it, the whole story will be made known. For protection of innocent persons much of it must now be withheld."

Mr. Daugherty said that department of justice records showed that a Communist movement began in the United States three years ago to destroy confidence "in our form of government."

Character Had to be Killed.

"To this end," he continued, "confidence in men of both political parties had to be destroyed when they could not be dominated by the directors of the movement. At any cost, by any conceivable method, cruel, criminal or murderous, the character of men in authority had of necessity to be assassinated."

The former attorney general declared that official government records obtained from official Russian sources, contribute indisputable proof of the assertions he made. He referred them to what he described as the connection between the Communists and those members of the United States senate and other individuals who seemingly embrace the ideals of this strange and dangerous doctrine, as easily as it may be applicable to the "investigative mind" in Washington.

The senate was swept off its feet, Mr. Daugherty continued. "President was cast to the winds. The protection of individual and official rights has been ignored. Under the leadership of the Communists, the people of the United States were misled, misled, misled."

CALL SCAPA FLOW SAFEST OF HARBORS

Was Main Base of the British Fleet During War.

Washington.—Reports that the 74 German warships scuttled by their commanders on June 21, 1919, at Scapa Flow are to be salvaged by the British, recall the fact that this body of water between the Orkney islands and the mainland of Scotland, which was the main base of the British grand fleet throughout the World war, is one of the world's largest and safest harbors.

"Even the guides provided for navigators say that no matter in what direction the wind may be, a vessel can always find shelter in Scapa Flow by shifting berth. Practically the whole of this island sea, measuring 50 square miles in area, is honeycombed around the edges with good harbors and roadsteads, many of them being along the cliffs of Pomona, or Mainland, the central and largest of the Orkney islands. Barra, South Ronaldshay, Flotta, Fara, Hoy and Graemsey are the islands which form a ring to keep out heavy seas.

VINCENT LOPEZ PLEAS

Many Non-Dancers Present to Take Advantage of Opportunity to Hear Best Music of Its Kind Ever Heard in This City — Mr. Lopez Pleased With Oneonta — Dance a Success.

Jazz with the blare and blattany removed—classical air with a touch of thing thrilling injected—old familiar tunes in modern tempo—such was the musical menu served by Vincent Lopez and his Hotel Pennsylvania orchestra at the annual spring dance of the American Legion at the state armory last evening, and the hundreds who somehow managed to crowd into the huge drill shed were entirely pleased with the meal—so pleased in fact that 1 o'clock came all too soon.

Under the expert manipulation of Vincent Lopez jazz has been made real music as was demonstrated time after time last evening, especially during the concert. Behind the mere melody there was a real orchestration that touched upon the interwoven tunes with effect at times blare but always effectively. Vincent Lopez has created a type of music that is more than dance music—it is the transmutation of 1924 done in a manner as complete as did the masters of old interpret their times.

At times Lopez abandoned the leader's baton for the piano and then the crowd was treated to playing that caused the dancers to stop their gyrations and crowd around the platform. But whether with wand in hand or on the piano stool he was Lopez, the greatest exponent of modern music. Probably no dance ever held in Oneonta was more enjoyable. The drill shed was packed with humanity but nobody minded the jostling under the spell of the wonderful music emanating from the platform.

The decorations gave just the right touch to the affair. Not elaborate enough to appear ornate, they were yet of sufficient complexity to turn the bare drill hall into a most pleasing ball room.

Just how complete a financial success the affair was could not be determined last evening but it is practically certain that the legion will reap a profit from its venture. Many doubted if even expenses could be made but the intensive work of the committee members bore fruit and the "impossible" was accomplished.

And aside from the financial profit the legion has the satisfaction of knowing that it has brought to Oneonta an attraction that is the best the world affords in its line.

Mr. Lopez and his men left on the sleeper for New York city and will be back again playing at the Hotel Pennsylvania this evening. Radio fans who tune in on WEAF tonight will hear something of local interest to them.

Those who were fortunate to meet Mr. Lopez were agreeably surprised at his personality as the majority of them expected to meet a man somewhat puffed up by his success. A more pleasant and agreeable man could not be found.

Mr. Lopez expressed himself as being very well pleased with Oneonta. He remarked upon the wonderful air, stating that he had eaten a strawberry shortcake following the dance of a quality which money could not buy in New York and said that he enjoyed the dance immensely. He stated that the armory was the best armory in regard to acoustics that he had ever played in and that the people in attendance were, according to his observations, of unusually high calibre for a large public dance. Their friendliness was a point he stressed.

USING UP SURPLUS STOCK

Oneonta Storage Battery Corporation Lays Off Help But Factory in Not Closed — Sale of Bonds, However, Resuming.

When interviewed last evening relative to the reports of the closing of the factory of the Kalo Battery Corporation, President W. O. Brannaman of the corporation talked freely and said that the reports current in the city are false and misleading and in justice to the company should be corrected.

He admitted that the sale of the issue of bonds recently announced had not met with the response that had been anticipated and that necessarily the policy of expansion had been curtailed, the directors of the company believing that it would be folly to attempt to force the matter under present business conditions. It is believed that after a limited time that there will be a larger sale of the bonds, and that the company will not be required to accept the offer which has been made for the entire issue at a considerable reduction below par. The company found that it had in a state of emergency, requiring little additional labor to finish nearly 2,000 batteries and rather than proceed with the manufacture on a scale in excess of the daily output necessitating a considerable outlay of additional cash for both material and labor, and it was decided to lay off about 15 employees and with the others remaining the 2,000 batteries can be completed as rapidly as they are being absorbed by the existing service stations. The supply will last from 45 to 60 days and before the expiration of that time the company will be in a position to determine about the further sale of the bond issue and the necessity of accepting the offer at below par for the entire lot.

The company has no present intention, according to Mr. Brannaman, of closing the factory and it believes that with 255 service stations now in operation and many of them active agencies, that the time will soon be here when the output will necessitate the operation of the factory on full time basis.

The fact that for three weeks prior to Monday last the average shipments daily were only 19, the shipments for the first three days of this week averaged 28 daily, an encouraging increase. Then, too, repeat shipments, are also on a cash basis, the first shipment only to establish the agency being on a consignment basis.

At the present time the traveling salesmen are confining their efforts to the territory in which agencies have been established, bringing up any that may have been cleaning up on an old line that had formerly been carried in and establishing new ones at other places within the territory through which the agents must travel to reach the well established distributors.

The company has not closed the factory and believe that under present conditions the step taken is one indicated by good conservative management and the best for the future welfare of the enterprise.

GROWING TO BIGGER THINGS

Inspiring Address by Talented Pastor at Oneonta Yesterday Before Kiwanis.

The weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club yesterday was well attended and several guests participated in the sociability of the hour and in the pleasure of listening to an eloquent and uplifting address by Dr. M. H. Lichter.

E. D. Hirshey, the chairman of the day, introduced E. H. Bruce and Horace D. Nye as new members. Guests of the day were: Rotarians A. M. Curtis, E. H. Holmes, Stuart Brown, F. H. Pashley, I. H. Rowe and C. T. Waters of this city and E. G. Sanford of Ridgewood, N. J.

In his address Dr. Lichter said that he has no patience with foolish talk about competition in business, industrial or professional life. No man can have any competitor but one's own self. He should not attempt to outstrip others but give his capacity to his own tasks.

He stated that here are 6,000 congregational clergymen in New England and although 5,000 might be more able than himself, not one of them can write his sermon. One should be broader minded than to feel a sense of injury in competition if he does the very best work he can do, and strive to do better work tomorrow than he can do today. He stated that if he could not preach a better sermon each Sunday than the week before he would be a failure.

He has been called to fill a noted pulpit in Columbus, Ohio, where he will have a background of the tremendous personality of a gifted predecessor and the only thing to save him would be the conviction that he is not in competition, but that he must register each succeeding week bigger and better work.

He stated that workmen nowadays in the struggle for shortened hours and higher wages are restricted in their output and taught to strive for leisure instead of the satisfaction to be obtained by putting forth their best efforts.

England is a hundred years ahead of us in the cultivation of intellectual and cultured leadership among industrial workers, and labor now has a prime minister of the empire.

Boys should be taught to find a joy in good work done and to feel the sting in a memory of work illily done. The only lasting joy is that of satisfaction in work well done and having that joy we can turn to relaxation with greater pleasure and benefit.

He has no belief in a creed or church that does not relate itself to what a man does all the week. If well done, our work is a sacred thing. He called attention to the custom of the ancient Jews who offered their handwork in their worship and quoted Ps. 90-17. He closed by quoting from the poem of George Eliott on Stradivarius.

The lessons with Dr. Lichter drew in his address were largely from those two inspiring books, "Sanderson of Uddell" and "The Story of a Great Schoolmaster," the latter by H. G. Wells. Both of these books are in the Huntington library.

Quota Completed

At the Red Cross rooms yesterday afternoon the ladies made five dresses and five pairs of bloomers which completes the requisition for Porto Rico. These garments are very attractive and a fine amount of work has been accomplished.

TALKING ABOUT

Glove Silk Underwear

Refreshing New Glove Silk "Undies" — new in shape, new in design, new in coloring, and new in the simplicity of their artistic finish.

By this time, most women know about the special goodness of Glove Silk and Italian Silk Undergarments—to women who have not tried them, we suggest that they do so without delay, and, with the others, experience the joys and pleasures of being "under-silked" during the summer and experience the pleasures of the cool, refreshing "feel" of silk on hot, murky days.

Silk Underwear is not expensive—on the other hand, it is really inexpensive; as under-silk-things are made today. Good for long service, good for repeated laundering; really the easiest sort to care for.

Then too, remember about the present summery dress styles; how they cling and how they float. It takes silk "Undies" to provide a fitting foundation and to carry out the fashion suggestion in dress.

Pantalettes, Stepins, Bloomers, Vests, Union Suits and Envelope Chemise in Flesh, White and Tan

Simple and effective in their simple adornment; artistic conceptions of the richness of heavy silk; woven to obtain a crushing softness that fits without bunching.

Best of all, the laundering is almost as easy as washing out a few handkerchiefs—a real boon to travelers within the limits of one room and no time to hunt a laundress.

This is the best time—while the stocks are complete—to provide for summer comforts and a goodly supply of Silk Underwear.

W. C. T. U. HISTORY RECALLED

Oneonta Union Entertains Plains Union at Which Members Speak Reminiscences.

Yesterday at 1 p. m. the local W. C. T. U. entertained the Oneonta Plains W. C. T. U. at a covered dish luncheon. There were 11 members from the Oneonta Plains union present.

The program of the afternoon was one of unusual attraction and instruction as the history of the local organization was given by the speakers. Mrs. E. A. Nearing spoke on "The Starting Point." She stated that the society was first organized in 1887 and gave the following list of the original officers: President, Mrs. J. N. Lee, vice president, Mrs. E. A. Nearing; secretary, Rhoby Williams, treasurer, Mrs. J. S. Mansett.

Mrs. Lulu Walker spoke on "The Race," giving the history of the society for the past 20 years. She mentioned the different presidents that the society had during that time and gave many interesting episodes in its history. She told in an especially vivid manner how the campaign was carried on so effectively during the fight for prohibition. She told about the different places where the society had at times conducted rest rooms for young women and how at first the society met at the different homes of the members. Among the various places mentioned where the W. C. T. U. had met were the Y. M. C. A. parlors, the Salvation Army rooms, at the Women's club rooms, in the Ford mansion next to the Wilber National bank and in the rooms at 221 Main street, where Kellum's grocery is now located. The last place chosen was the Community House, where the meetings are now held. She told about the different departments of the W. C. T. U. and the work that had been accomplished by them up to the present.

"The Goal" was given by the various officers and by Mrs. Walker. One of the main features of this was a discussion of the convention which is to be held here this year to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the organization in general.

THREE IMPORTANT THINGS

DISCUSSED BY DR. LICHTNER IN LECTURE LAST EVENING.

Fluquent Public Speaker of New England Makes Brilliant Analysis of Certain Tendencies of American Life.

The final number on the Normal and High school course was given last evening at the High school auditorium by Dr. M. H. Lichtner, now pastor of the Central Congregational church of Newton, Mass., but presently leaving for Ohio, a former field of labor, where he will fill the pulpit at Columbus. He was long graced and dignified by Dr. Washington Gladden. "A series of entertainments" are the words we associate with the evening. In referring to the evening, he said it was more than an entertainment. It was a lecture with interest but it was also a promoter of thoughtfulness and a fountain of inspiration. Owing to other events of the evening, the attendance was not as large as that of some of his predecessors; but there has not been one from which the lecturer carried away so much thoughtfully to ponder over. "The Vaudeville Mind" was the title which he gave an address which fearlessly dissected some phases of modern social and religious life.

After a brilliant introduction in which he made application of the lecture to a life crowded with disconnected incidents, each of them perhaps playing but with no definite purpose and coming to no satisfactory conclusion, the speaker enjoined upon his listeners three things which were set forth in the form of questions: thus dividing his address much as he himself, his father, grandfather and great-grandfather—for he is of the fourth generation of preachers—may have provided heads of discourse for some of his hearers.

What are the facts? What is the meaning? Under the first head he instanced certain things reported in Belgium during the war, in Smyrna during the great fire and now at Washington apropos of the Teapot Dome investigation, urging that before final decision is reached that this question be asked and answered. First impressions may have been wrong, and one owes to himself as to those more directly concerned that the facts should be absolutely known before verdict is rendered. If they are not known, then at least one should keep an open mind, utilizing moments of leisure for purposes of study.

Of the second question, "What do you mean?" he asked that each should definitely be able to present his conclusions, not in any slipshod or uncertain way, but so that one's convictions should be clearly understood. The third, and perhaps most important, was the urge of Dr. Lichtner that we should know the other side of any question. It is the common, the too-common attitude, of humanity in politics, in social and industrial matters and religion to take one side of the question and to shut out the other from consideration. Better far would it be to view the subject from another angle; as regards the other fellow, to "put yourself in his place," and to be mindful perhaps of the fact that "colors seen by daylight do not look the same by day." If we would give balanced consideration, and particularly if we would avoid the vaudeville mind, we should see every subject not from one but many angles and from each with honest and unprejudiced consideration.

At the conclusion of his lecture the speaker, who had drawn largely on personal experience, told of his observations in Oneonta and towns like it, and affirmed as his conviction that our own community is over-church-ful, that there is need for one great Roman Catholic church, one synagogue, one great Protestant cathedral, coordinating in religious duty, serving their own people as best they may and all uniting in affording the finest forms of helpfulness in community service. Doubtless most of those present would not agree in this last suggestion, but there is no question as to the courage of the speaker in making it.

As a last word he urged that creed and party be forgotten and that we follow in the paths of right as we see them, asking the three questions and so avoiding the vaudeville mind. Those who heard Dr. Lichtner unquestionably would be glad to hear him again, and all will regret to learn that his address last evening was practically a farewell to the lecture platform. He goes this morning to Binghamton, and thence to Port Jervis, where he speaks on Friday. This will in fact be his last lecture, for his contract with his new church at Columbus is to give up the platform entirely—an agreement which may be good for the society but absolutely not for that large parish to which he might profitably minister.

ARE YOU LIP-LAZY?

MOST OF US ARE, SAY AUTHORITIES, BERATING SLOVENLINESS OF NATIONAL SPEECH

BY ALEXANDER HEIMAN
N.Y.A. Service Staff Writer

Philadelphia, Apr. 23. — Lip-laziness is America's prevalent disease. Millions already have it and they are rapidly infecting others. Before long the disease will be nationwide. Yet most of its victims do nothing about it.

So a group of educators meeting at the Philadelphia Convention have decided to stay the spread of this disease, by turning the spotlight of publicity on its evils.

Chief of this group is Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, former actress, author and lecturer, who styles herself an "English American." To save her children from the epidemic, she is trying to cure them abroad.

The symptoms of this "disease," says Mrs. Hale, "vary throughout the country."

"In New York it can be found in the street of the young man who talks about that 'skit on Twenty-third street' when referring to a girl on Third street."

"In New England it is manifested by saying 'wuz' when one means 'was.'"

"In the Middle West, by dropping the 't' out of the language: 'wud do yew' for 'what do you want.' In a recent trip through the inland states, I did not hear the letter 't' pronounced, except when it began a word."

"And in the Far West, by the constant use of such terms as 'You bet' to cover every conceivable reply to any conceivable answer."

"With these symptoms comes the poker face—the shell behind which the American business man tries to hide his thoughts and emotions."

MRS. BEATRICE HALE

"There is a shutting of the teeth, an attempt to conserve energy, and the result—a muffled speech."

"Women often go to the other extreme. In an attempt to be light and say, they talk above the noise about them—screaming, screaming."

"The art of conversation, carefully developed abroad, seems to be entirely dead here. And the chief reason is, I think, that we suffer from a low-brow complex. It seems to be the common belief that it is superior to be inferior."

"We are afraid of being called high-brow. So we assume a careless speech. In England a man's speech marks him. No one speaks a dialect that is beneath him, so the standard of the spoken English has been kept up to that of the written."

"But in America it seems to make little difference how one speaks. For lip-laziness is getting the better of the nation."

Professor Samuel A. King, of Bryn Mawr, a girls' college, agrees with Mrs. Hale.

"Many American girls," he says, "are without charm as a consequence of their slovenly diction and uncultivated voices. They seem to forget that it is just as essential to please the ear as the eye. Some of them will spend years abroad perfecting their diction in Italian and French, but they never give their own tongue a thought."

The most common defects of our speech, the professor points out, are technically known as:

Sniffing Nasality.

Partial Nasality.

Throaty Consongency.

The cure for all this lip-laziness? Training in proper speech from childhood on, these experts say, for it is difficult to change the speech of adults.

So if you want the next generation to be saved from America's greatest epidemic, begin training it now.

STAFF OF LIFE IN MANY COUNTRIES

Various Methods of Making Bread Described.

Washington, D. C.—Though bread may pass as the pancake, the acorn, the tortilla, the carta di musica, and the bluet in various countries, getting the wherewithal to bake it or the preparation of it is of necessity one of the chief interests of man and woman in every clime—even though in the South, sea islands it grows on trees," says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"The Arab woman digs a pit in the sand and builds a hot fire in it. Then she takes away the embers and places her dough on the hot sides. When the bread is done, she picks it off with a pair of tongs."

"Wrapping Paper" Bread.

"The deliciously crisp Persian bread which is bought in enormous fat pancake-like sheets sometimes 24 inches long, prepared in a number of ways, but that customarily seen for sale in the capital city of Persia is baked in large ovens in which the dough is spread out on great piles of red-hot pebbles. And in olden days there was no proffering in the staff of life in the Persian kingdom. A baker who left the straight and narrow path of his just profits was thrust into his own oven and slowly browned."

"In some parts of the Arab kingdom the husband does the household marketing and after having purchased various necessary commodities, he then buys a large sheet of native bread, which is of doughlike pliability, and rolls up his purchases in it."

"The Egyptian baker makes 'puff-balls' because he wishes to get the largest loaf out of the smallest amount of flour. One writer describes it as a hole wrapped in a crust. The dough is rolled out as thin as a pie crust and the edges of two pieces joined all around; the heat does the rest."

In Norway "Bread Hags High."

"The Ecuadorian woman follows a very interesting old custom. She bakes bread in the shape of people and animals for All Saints day."

"The Bavarian housewife has a big baking day once every week. Flour is 'meaded' in large earthenware bowls and rolled very thin on a table that is so low that the cook must kneel before it. Nearly every home has its own flour mill made of black lava and fashioned almost like those upreathed at Pompeii and Herculaneum. The woman performs the whole process of cleaning and grinding the wheat, sifting the flour, and baking the bread. She uses very little yeast and her baking must be done to a turn because the supply must last for a week. The large thin circular pieces are called 'tarts d'auvent,' meaning paper to write music on."

"The well-known flatbread of the Norwegian peasant is made by mixing coarse barley meal and water, rolling the dough thin and baking it over a round flat baking-stone under which a fire of fagots is kept burning. Enough of this bread is made at one baking to last a whole winter. Holes are punched in the cakes so that they can be strung on a pole and placed across the ceiling. It often happens in some of the peasant homes of northern Norway that a man can reach up and tear off a piece of this bread as he wants it."

Tortillas for Mexicans.

"In Syria the hearth is often two stones between which fagots are placed and the bread is cooked on an iron plate placed on top."

"Some of the Indian tribes of the Pacific slopes of the United States make a kind of flour from acorns which they soak in boiling water, mould into a flat cake and cook in the sun. The tortilla of the Mexican is almost as much a part of his costume or background as his huge peaked hat. It is a kind of flapjack which it takes a cultivated taste and a gastronomic trick or two to appreciate. It is made from Indian corn which has been parboiled and crushed into a paste and is baked on an iron or stone plate but not enough to make the tortilla brown."

"Cassava root makes one of the principal foods of the people of tropical America. From the coarse meal, somewhat resembling oatmeal, thin round cakes are made."

Scotch and Indian Hare Soones.

"In India the natives eat round, flat cakes of unleavened wheat bread called 'chapatties.' The cook shapes them with his hands and bakes them on a griddle on the coals. They resemble to some extent the thin sheets made of wheat flour and water, called 'acorns,' which are eaten in Scotland."

"One of the most interesting of the unleavened breads is the Passover bread which has been used by orthodox Jews since the time of Moses. It is made much like the most primitive leavened mixture of flour and water baked in round cakes—and resembles the calmed remains of cakes made from coarsely ground grain which have been recovered from the Swiss lake-dwellings of the Stone Age. In those days, however, the grains used were barley and a one-grained wheat."

First Bread From Barley.

"Egyptologists believe that barley was the first grain used by the ancients to their bread-making, but wheat must have come into use soon after barley. Leavened bread was represented in sculpture on ancient monuments. There were two quite familiar varieties—a small round loaf somewhat like our muffins and an elongated roll speckled on top with seeds like the modern Vienna roll. In classical the Vienna roll was introduced into the United States during the Civil war when a 'war bakery' operated in the basement of the United States Capitol tucked up products to feed the populace of Washington.

"The Egyptians evidently first learned the use of leaven and taught it to the Greeks. Jews and Romans who passed it on through the nations they subjected."

"No story on bread would be complete without at least a reference to the black bread of Russia, which has for so long been the staff of life to the masses. The United States has its distinctly typical forms of bread, such as the bee-cake, the corn-cake and the 'upson bread' of Ulster, and the rich brown mass that is served with Boston's Saturday night feast."

1923 Was Greatest Year for Consumption of Meat

Washington.—Production and consumption of meat was the greatest in American history last year. An estimate made recently by the Department of Agriculture placed the consumption at 10,481,000,000 pounds. Detailed estimates of production, however, were not made public.

The per capita consumption was 167 pounds, or 17.3 pounds more than in 1922, when 170.9 pounds per capita were consumed. Total consumption was 2,000,000,000 pounds over the average for the last five years, and the per capita consumption was 18 pounds over the average. Ninety per cent of the increase was represented by pork products. The per capita consumption was: Beef, 62.5 pounds; veal, 7.9; mutton and lamb, 5.2; and pork, excluding lard, 91.4 pounds. Lard consumption was 18.4 pounds per capita.

YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL FAILURE IN NEWARK

Pupils Need Rest to Assimilate Education.

New York.—Schools must close for the summer vacation if the children are both to get and assimilate their education, Dr. David B. Corson, superintendent of schools in Newark, reported in a survey of all-year instruction. Several of the schools in Newark tried the twelve-months' system, the experiment proving a failure, said Dr. Corson.

The all-year pupils were expected to complete the public school work in six years. Instead, it was found they were graduated at an average age of four years seven months. The small difference was more than offset by the superior physical and mental state of the latter group, Dr. Corson asserted.

Particularly noticeable is the defect in the all-year school when the boys and girls are ready for high school work, the superintendent said. A large proportion of them, through being "forced," have been "left back" and retarded in other ways during the school year.

many grades work. On reaching high school their deficiencies become more obvious, and there is a large percentage of "sociality," or dropping from classes, among them.

One argument that favored the all-year school was a greater economy to the school board and city. Doctor Corson strongly denied that any such saving accrued. Had it been possible to graduate the pupils in the six years, as was contemplated, this saving would have been met. In view of the failure to accomplish this, the expenses proved as great as, if not greater than, the vacation school system.

Doctor Corson's report was originally read before the meeting of the department of superintending of the National Education association. His experience tended to end the putting forth of suggestions to apply modern efficiency methods to primary children, or to force education by hothouse methods.

In the all-year school there are five reorganizations of classes in the course of each twelve-month period. These cause considerable confusion in the matter of examinations, acquiring of new teachers and turning to a new subject, to be taught in a slightly different method.

What gas ought to give—and what this efficient gas does give:

power plus—yet
saves 30%

Ten years' engineering tests prove this

Check up on the performance of your motor—and on the yearly cost of gasoline. For here are new facts, brought out by 2 years of engineering tests.

You can have greater power from your motor—greater flexibility—greater driving pleasure. And at the same time you can save 30% of what gas costs you yearly.

What the chart shows

Note the chart above. It shows first what gas must do, in your motor. Then it shows what PUROL gas does—as proved by hundreds of tests.

The column of type, at left of chart, tells what the combustible units in gasoline must perform. Because all gas is made up of combustible units. The first 10% of them should give quick starting, the second 10% rapid picking, the balance solid pulling-power.

Now see how the PUROL performance curve meets each important requirement. That's because PUROL is refined or "tuned" to give full power in your motor. It possesses the right combustible units.

So it saves 30%

Gasoline that gives real power-performance also reduces general upkeep—and the other way 'round! So

PUROL has been proved to save 30% of yearly gasoline costs. Two years of tests—made on 38 different cars—prove:

That PUROL gives 33% greater mileage. That PUROL burns cleanly—saving 14.2% of gas that usually drips down into crank-case. In this way it saves $2.36 a year in lubricating oil. And through the greater efficiency of oil undiluted, it saves $18.33 a year (average) in general repairs.

The average car consumes 300 gallons of gas a year. So the first two PUROL savings—67% gallons at 30c—total $17.50. All four show a total yearly saving of $38.81. That is 30% of the gasoline cost for the average car.

Test PUROL power today

Drive for just a few miles and you will see how PUROL performance adds to the responsiveness of your motor. Use it for a year and you will see how it also saves this 30% of what you ordinarily spend for gas.

Make a test today. You can get PUROL at any Pure Oil Service Station, or at any Pure Oil dealer. You'll know them by the pump painted "Pure Oil Gas."

Whether or whenever you buy PUROL, you will find its performance everywhere the same. Greater power with greater economy!

With Death Around the Corner

John M. Alexander, former El Dorado politician, shown in collapse on the arms of two guards, being carried to the gallows at Homer, La., to be hanged for the murder of W. F. Rogers in the Haynesville oil fields. This photo is one of the most remarkable ever secured at the scene of an execution.

RUSE TO KIDNAP TEACHER

Parties Call For Ada Follett Oliver, of Holmesville, Telling Her Father Is Sick.

Only presence of mind and forethought saved Ada Follett Oliver, Holmesville school teacher, from being the probable victim of a kidnapping plot the other night. Says the Morning Sun of Tuesday.

An automobile party appeared at her Holmesville boarding house shortly after 10 o'clock at night and under the guise that her father, Grant Follett, of the Chenango lake road, was seriously ill and not expected to live the night through, informed her they had come to take her to him.

The teacher hastily dressed and left her boarding house preparatory to entering the car. As she opened the car door to enter she made the discovery that aside from the man at the wheel the rear seat was occupied by another man slumped down in the seat and a small girl evidently in tears.

Suddenly the thought came to her that possibly it was a clever ruse to get her away. She declined to enter the car and returned to the house where she called her father by phone to learn the truth—that he was not ill.

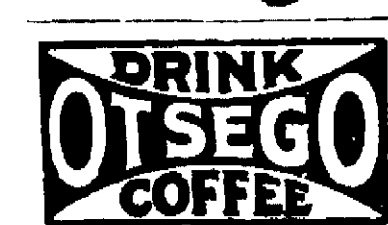

After the teacher returned to the house she parties in the automobile drove away.

Mr. Thurber's Pet Woodchuck.
John H. Babcock, of West Richmondville, relates this interesting woodchuck story and vouchers for its truth. Last summer while working on the railroad section at East Worcester, Vernon McMullins found a family of young woodchucks and he took one of them home with him and kept it as a pet. Later he gave it to Louis Thurber, who also kept it as a pet. The woodchuck, who was named "Burr," was suddenly gone and it was supposed that it had been killed in some manner. On a recent warm day the woodchuck was found in the Thurber home and made himself at home. He was found and last night returned to a hole in the yard and the garden and burrowed up in the water. He is once more the family pet. Richmondville Phoenix.

ST. MARY'S BAZAAR

PLAYS HEARING COMPLETION FOR EVENT TO BE HELD IN NEW SCHOOL APRIL 25
TO MAY 1

Supper to be served every evening by Ladies of Parish—Many Fancy Articles, of Intricate Work, and Contributions from Merchants to be sold at Bazaar—Dancing Every Evening.

While perhaps many in Oneonta and vicinity do not realize the nearness of May 1, still the members of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, who are busily at work preparing for the bazaar, which is to be held at a benefit for the new parochial school in the school building.

The building, which was just recently completed, is being given a thorough cleaning, which is a task requiring no little effort, to say nothing of preparing for the bazaar, which is to be held in the city.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the school will open next September, on the same dates as the other schools of the city, with four of the lower grades. It is planned to add one more of the higher grades each year until the curriculum is completed.

The formal opening of the school will probably not be held until fall, but the public is cordially invited to inspect the building during the bazaar. No admission charge will be made and everyone will be welcomed.

The ladies of the parish, under the direction of Miss Katherine Finley are to serve suppers on each evening of the bazaar from 5 until 7 o'clock. A series of special menus have been arranged, and will be carried in The Star at a later date.

On Monday night a chicken fricassee supper will be served, on Tuesday baked spiced ham, Wednesday a New England boiled dinner, Friday a clam chowder supper, and on Saturday a baked spiced ham supper. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. DuMond have been secured to act as caterers, and the ladies of the parish will serve. The price of the suppers on these nights will be only 50 cents.

CLARKE BILL PASSES HOUSE

Washington, Apr. 23.—The bill introduced in congress by Congressman John D. Clarke of the 34th district and known as the Clarke reforestation bill, passed the house of representatives today. It is declared by men prominent in the conservation movement to be the greatest forest conservation measure since Roosevelt's time. Its fate in the upper house is not yet known, but it has the support of all conservationists who have studied the measure.

LATEST VICINITY NOTES

Matters of Current Interest as Reported in Columns of Exchanges.

A new book for children, by Mrs. Ellen Miller Donaldson of Norwich, has just been published by the Milton Bradley company of Springfield, Mass. It comprises some 10 stories of Indian lands and peoples, and perpetuates many legends of American primitive life. An earlier book by Mrs. Donaldson is entitled "Moons of Long Ago."

St. Augustine's Protestant Episcopal society at New Berlin celebrated its 110th anniversary last Sunday. Father Nash, the pioneer clergyman of the church in Otsego and Chenango, often preached there at the home of zealous laymen, and the first church edifice was consecrated in 1816. During its 110 years there have been seven bishops and 13 rectors and the parish has been part of three bishoprics—first of New York, then of Western New York, and now of the diocese of Central New York.

During its closing hours the legislature passed the bill of Assemblyman Bert Lord reducing the salary of the Chenango county judge from $4,000 to $3,500, the measure becoming effective in 1935. The proposal to slash the county judge's salary was made by Judge H. C. Stratton, and resulted in the introduction of Assemblyman Lord's bill.

Rev. L. J. Wilson has resigned the pastorate of the Gilbertville Baptist church to be effective May 1, or as soon thereafter as can be conveniently arranged. Mr. Wilson has been pastor at Gilbertville for the past year and a half, laboring zealously for the good of the community. No announcement as to his plans for the future has been made.

When the house of C. Proskine at Elm's Eddy caught fire last Friday, water was not available, but occupants of the house threw bricks from a porch balcony upon it, dousing the flames until neighbors could come to their aid and put out the blaze.

Pat H. Mitchell has sold the Mitchell mill in Middletown to John A. Louney and Edward Martin of New York for something over $300,000. This is the third time the hotel has been sold in a year, each time at an advanced price. The new owners plan a two-story addition at an estimated cost of $100,000.

Students of the Agricultural college of State university plan to visit Delaware county May 12 or 13. Arrangements will be made for them to see some of the largest herds of cattle and to study some of the problems of milk production in Delaware county.

Judge Lacks Leadership.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts is considered great service to his country and a credit to the Republic in many ways. But Senator Lodge as a leader is a complete failure. He has failed to hold a Republic in majority together. He has failed to carry out the White House policies and must be held responsible by his party for the conditions in the senate. He cannot be so silent as an administration leader when he is chairman of a committee to hold back the admission of new states as proposed. A leader is leader in the attitude of leadership. Senator Lodge is not a leader and would rather be a follower than a leader.

The Senate Ship.

It appears as though the Republic can part with Massachusetts fairly far from the opportunity to come back. Senator Lodge's reaction when it comes to the latter being a leader is not a leader in the attitude of leadership. Senator Lodge is not a leader and would rather be a follower than a leader.

STATE MEDICAL FUNDS

Reforestation testing may be kept to a minimum in this county as the result of the passing of the state appropriation from $4,000,000 to about $2,500,000 by Governor Alfred E. Smith, according to members of the county committee on bovine tuberculosis eradication.

Members of the committee intend to write to the department of farms and markets at Albany to find out how the state money is to be distributed in order that new tests may be made in the county as soon as possible.

Farm Bureau Will Plant Pine.

The Otsego county Farm Bureau has again been granted 10,000 places to be used for reforestation purposes within the county. These trees have been put in the hands of interested farmers who have agreed to plant and care for the trees. The bureau is planning on conducting tree-planting demonstrations in the following communities: Pierstown, Richfield Springs, Middlefield Center, Schuyler Lake and West Exeter. The dates will be announced as soon as the trees arrive.

Mr. Beale, the manager of the local bureau, also announced that there will be a forestry committee for the county appointed within the next few days. He believes the present forestry program as carried on is not adequate and steps should be taken to rectify this condition.
